

THE SCRIBE

Our Vision

To See the Nations Discipled

Our Mission

To bring people to Christ and membership of His family, develop them to Christ-like maturity, and equip them for their ministry and life mission in the world.

KINGDOM SYSTEMS FOR RETAINING THE HARVEST

As we enter this season, the Lord is calling us beyond gathering the harvest to building the capacity to retain it. In Luke 19:11–27, Jesus reveals that the servants were not merely entrusted with minas; they were entrusted with a Kingdom assignment: “Occupy till I come.”

I believe we are entering a season of significant harvest. But a great harvest without Kingdom systems can become a great loss. God is therefore calling us to build structures that can receive, disciple, steward, measure, and multiply what He is bringing.

We must build systems of active engagement, accountability, partnership, discipleship, service and thought leadership. We must not hide what God has entrusted to us under the handkerchief of comfort, fear, or complacency.

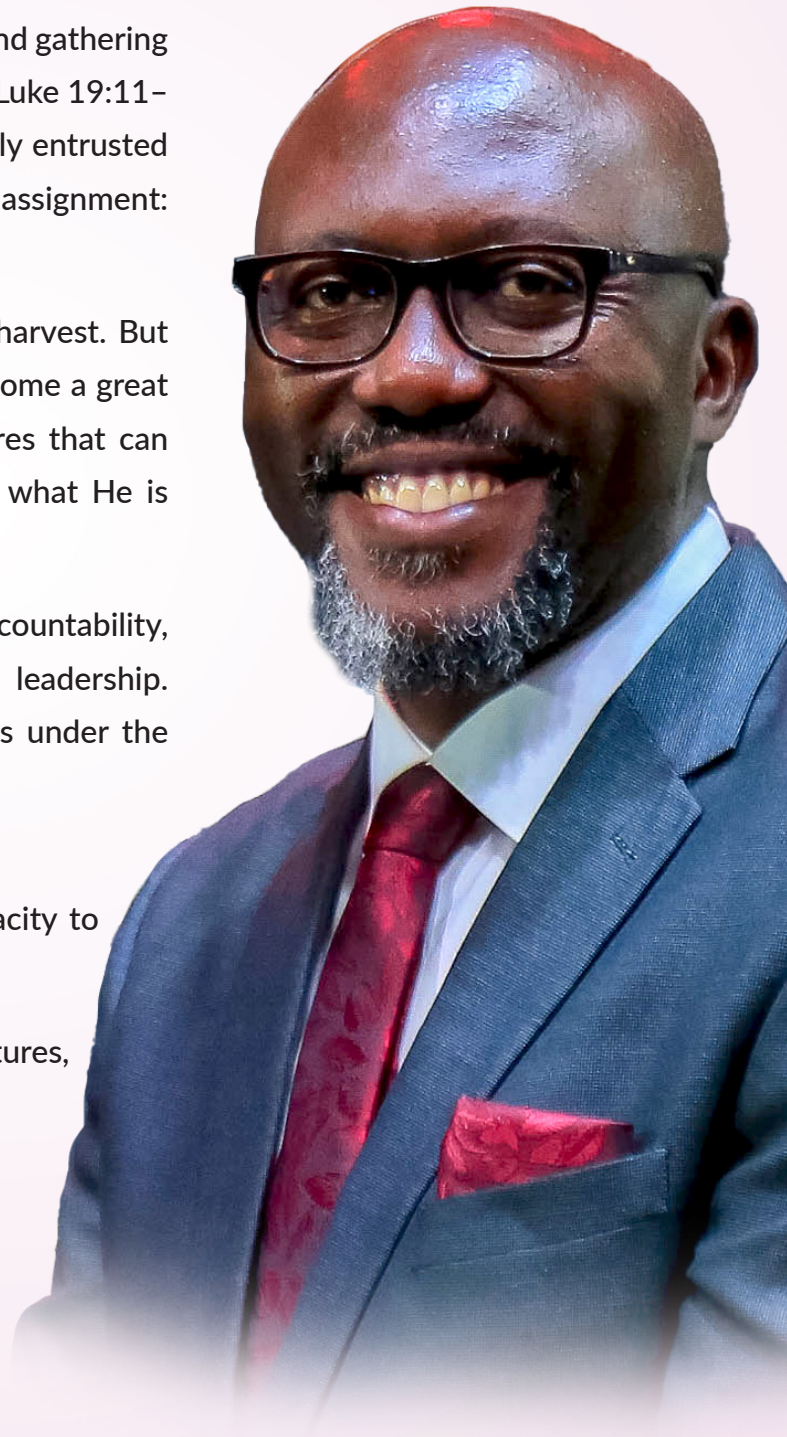

What God gives must be put to work.

The harvest is coming, but will we have the capacity to retain it?

God is calling us to build systems, strengthen structures, enlarge capacity, and prepare for the harvest.

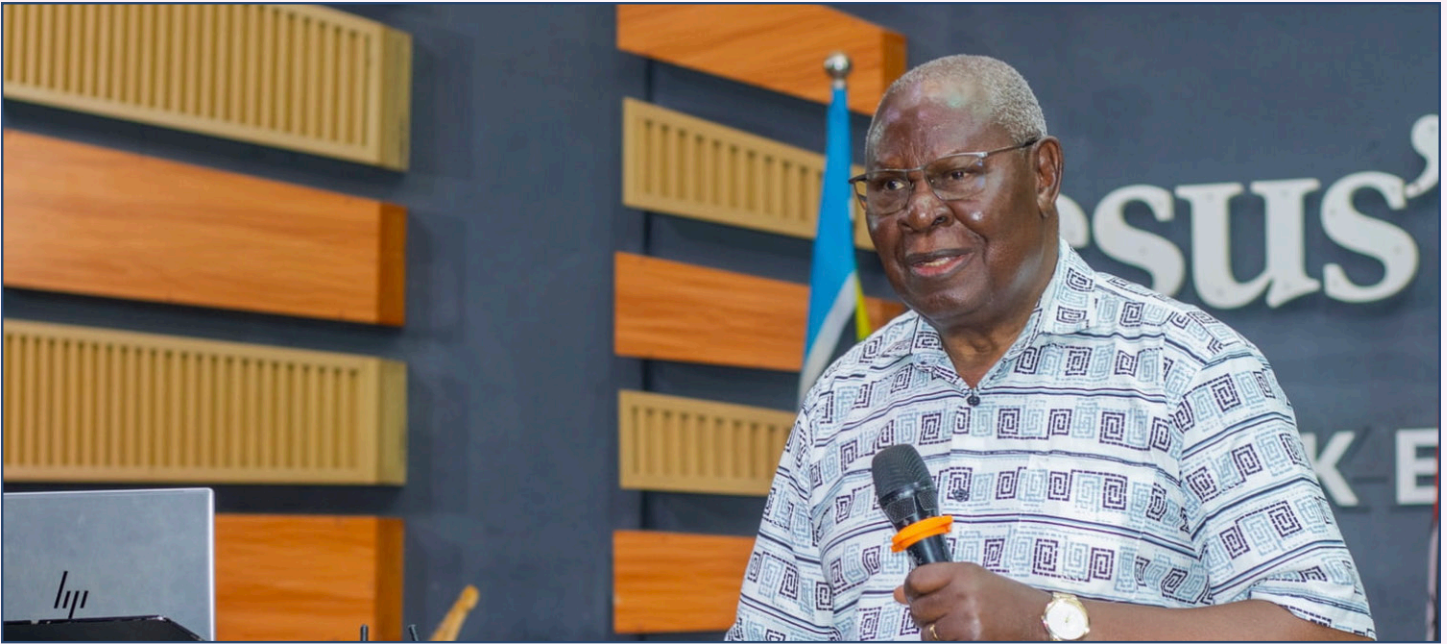

Let us do business until He comes!

FAMILY CONFERENCE

AN ENDURING GODLY LEGACY

DAY ONE

One of the founding fathers of Deliverance Church Uganda, Papa Nicholas Wafula, described the legacy of the ministry in two aspects:

1. Sound Doctrine
2. A Family Church

Over the years, the Marrieds Ministry has organised an annual conference focused on strengthening families according to the will of God. An entire week is set aside for seasoned speakers and panellists to share, teach, and answer questions regarding family in a week-long conference dubbed 'Family Week.'

This is one of the ways Deliverance Church Makerere Hill has preserved its legacy as a Family Church. This year, under the theme 'An Enduring Godly Legacy,' the focus was on the family, the basic unit of society, outliving itself by serving the purposes of God.

DAY TWO

Bishop Lwere, a great friend of Deliverance Church, has walked the journey of faith with many of our fathers, whom we love to call 'historicals', and has served with them in many impactful forums to the glory of God.

It was an honour to hear from him as he premised his sermon on the following scriptures:

- Psalm 145:4: "One generation shall praise Your works to another."
- Proverbs 13:22: "A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children."

He introduced the Sixfold Inheritance for your Children:

1. Physical Features (Birth)
2. Mental/Personality (Birth) – 2 Timothy 1:5
3. Education (Training) – Abraham and his children, Genesis 18:17–19
4. Estates (Your Work) – David to Solomon, 1 Chronicles 28 and 29
5. Spiritual (Sowing and Reaping) – Solomon, 1 Kings 11:11–13
6. Intercession (Prayers) – 1 Samuel 1 & 2

He started us off powerfully by explaining the importance of making a spiritual investment, or what we can call a seed, for our families.

- God's promise goes beyond you; it extends to generations (Genesis 12:1–3).

"Whatever you do today, your children will reap. This law applies to everything," he emphasised.

Will you sow through giving or in malice? These are spiritual seeds, so sow good things in order to receive in good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over.

Constantly mention your children by name as you pray for them daily. They will achieve even what you did not. Hannah's prayer of intercession made Samuel a prophet, just as Rebekah prayed for her two sons.

Teaching and training your children secures your legacy because the Lord promises to fight for them, as in the story of Abraham.

A great name and prosperity are guaranteed to you when you faithfully serve the Lord.

Speak life over your life because the Word says that a man is a product of what he thinks in his heart. You are the sum of the thoughts and decisions you make because you invest in them.

DAY THREE

Having lived together in wedlock for 37 beautiful years and counting, the Sserukkas have truly walked the talk.

Through their sharing, they gave us a checklist for couples who desire their marriages to impact communities.

Let's tick the boxes together:

- Even as we work so hard, it is not the land, the buildings, the shares, or other material possessions that qualify as the strongest inheritance for our children. It is the relationship between their parents.
- If we want emotionally stable children, then we must foster healthy marriages.
- Marriage is not just ours to behold; it is for God.

How do you know that your marriage is thriving and not just surviving?

- Is intimacy alive, does your marriage disciple others, and is there enduring love and growth?

- Do you serve the Lord together?
Do you do ministry together?
- Do you work together with your spouse; do you complement each other?
- Do you aim for peace in your home?
- Do you host the community together as a couple, whether through fellowships, hosting church ministers, youth mentorship, baby and bridal showers, or marriage seminars?
- Are you aware of the challenges that come with remote marriages, or what we sometimes call living apart?

They recommended the book The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Families by Stephen Covey, which emphasises being proactive, beginning with the end in mind, leaning your ladder against the right wall, putting first things first, and thinking win-win.

- Do you fight for the marriage relationship, or do you fight each other?
- What are you doing to keep the spark alive?
- If indeed love is the greatest, how are you exercising it in your marriage? (1 Corinthians 13)

Examples of thriving marriages in the Bible include Aquila and Priscilla, tentmakers who did ministry together by hosting a church in their home and mentoring people like Apollos. They also protected Paul.

Other examples are Isaac and Rebekah comforting each other, and Abraham and Sarah relocating together and holding on through barrenness.

- Are you partners in the faith? Are you team players?
- Will you impact your community or extended family without first influencing your children, relatives, churchmates, neighbours and friends?

Family Week featured other seasoned speakers as well. Please search for the Family Week Conference on the church's official YouTube channel for messages from Pr. Nicholas Wafula (Day Two) and Dr James Magara (Day Four).

THE BIG PITCH

TRIOLE MUSIC HUB

Triole Music Hub, a faith-based music education company, took part in The Big Pitch 2026, an experience that challenged and strengthened the team, from developing their initial idea to pitching, preparing proposals, and producing their pitch video.

With six shareholders working together, the journey highlighted the power of teamwork, faith, and shared vision as they build a business focused on music training, worship team support, church training, and instrument repair and maintenance.

For the team, the pitching process was also an opportunity to overcome fear and grow in confidence when communicating their vision. Through God's grace, they learned to articulate clearly the problem they are addressing and the solution Triole Music Hub provides.

The Big Pitch 2026 gave the team a fresh perspective on their business and strengthened their commitment to building a music enterprise that is both impactful and sustainable, serving the church and wider music community.

A FAMILY SPORTS DAY

A Family Sports Day: bringing the message of an enduring godly legacy to life as fathers, father figures and children came together for a day of fun, fellowship and meaningful bonding.

Through the various activities, families created memories that go beyond the game, a beautiful reminder that a godly legacy is built through presence, connection and the moments we share across generations.

We warmly thank everyone who participated and made the day truly memorable.
